

ITALIANS IN CONTROL OF SITUATION

ITALY'S AVIATORS HAVE COMPLETE CONTROL OF AIR ALONG PIAVE—AUSTRIAN SITUATION FAR FROM SATISFACTORY.

OFFENSIVE OF HUNGER

Commanders Address Troops on Fine Things to Eat They Will Get After They Have Captured Italian Cities.

Italian Army Headquarters, June 20.—The Italians have won complete control of the air along the Piave line where the most determined fighting on the part of the Austrian offensive is in progress.

This afternoon not a single Austrian machine was aloft on this front. In general the situation of the Austrians along the Piave appeared far from satisfactory to them. Prisoners taken by Italians all declare the Austrian army has little food. Some of the prisoners have not eaten for 48 hours.

Hunger Offensive.
That the Austrian drive against Italy is positively a "hunger offensive" has been proven by new orders and addresses found upon prisoners. These were signed by officers ranging from field marshal Conrad von Hotzendorff down to regimental commanders. One which was issued by the commander of the famous regiment bearing the name of Archduke Charles says: "Soldiers, remember that the only food for the Italian army is the food of the Italian people. The sleep, cows, steers, warehouses full of good clothes, and grocers' stores full of fine canned goods, flour and sugar. Think of your own. Think of the white bread you may win for all!"

Prisoners Are Weak.
The correspondent has visited groups of hundreds of prisoners, all of whom are thin and weak. They say they have been starved for the last month and spoke with horror of the winter months they had passed. A sample of their black bread shows it was made of rye straw and potatoes.

Bought Own Shoes.
Many of the prisoners have strong, well-spiked shoes but these they claim they made themselves or bought. They further claim they are falling apart, having been patched frequently. Most of them have near ragged shoes. The majority of prisoners have money but is either in paper bills or iron coins.

Have Many Medals.
Most of them wear medals for valor, some having two or three of them, but these decorations are of base metal and none of gold or silver. One is stamped with the likeness of Emperor Zita and another of the emperor's portrait and made of a zinc composition. The prisoners part freely with these medals, saying they have no pride in them. For a few pennies of Italian money, they will give up their medals with light heart, and generally have had teeth. The Italian soldiers tell humorous stories of the capture affected by nervousness. One Italian officer who had been wounded and picked up by a group of Austrians who intended to execute him, proudly explained how he fooled them. He said: "Come with me and you will get meat, wine and real bread." Thereupon the whole party went over to the Italian line. It is reported that at the beginning of the offensive the Austrians in the front line each received three rations of meat, one of which was of the attack, while the rest of the Italian story was that they were hungry, however, they ate all the first day.

Aviators Active.
As thousands of Italian and Austrian soldiers looked on, a single Italian airplane brought about the surrender of a crew of an Austrian machine gun after the Italian infantry and artillery had failed to subdue it. The Austrians brought the boat in on the swollen river Piave. From this vantage point the Austrians poured a harassing fire into the Italians, who tried in vain to destroy the boat. Italian planes then swooped down upon the river and forced the occupants to swim to the left bank and surrender to the Italian soldiers. The arrival of allied air patrols has caused the Austrians to hasten the Italian air force which is much weaker after six days of heroic work. Italian aviators have spent days at a time in the air, thereby virtually getting control of the air and preventing bombardment of cities behind the line.

Austrians Defeated.
Paris, June 20.—The splendid resistance of the Italian and French troops along the Piave has resulted in the capture of thousands of prisoners and much war material.

Hun Submerines Are Unequal to Contest According to Persius

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, June 20.—The German U-boats are unequal to the contest against the British in the virtual admission of Captain Persius, the naval reporter of the Berlin Tageblatt says a Rotterdam dispatch to Daily Telegraph. The captain writes: "Every Italian knows U-boat losses are unavoidable owing to the continually increasing sharpness and effectiveness of the measures of the enemy which perhaps will further increase as the war progresses. It is scarcely to be denied that our enemies are both carrying on the war and living and that it will be possible for them to defend themselves against the perils of the sea. At any rate from the beginning of U-boat war it was a mistake often committed by us to underestimate the forces of our enemy."

sharp encounters. The spirit of the Italian troops is high despite loss of sleep and constant movement made necessary by the condition of the terrain at several points.

Brave Resistance.
Deserted by his staff on the Montello plateau, Major General Crownstadt of the Austrian army fought single handed against the Italian army until he was wounded mortally. It seems the general and his staff became lost in the woods of Montello and ran into the unit of Arditi and when the members of the staff saw the Italian soldiers they fled.

Enter German Lines.
Paris, June 20.—French troops entered the German line between Montdidier and Oise last night and captured 20 prisoners official statements issued today. There was nothing of importance on the rest of the front. The statement reads: "The enemy line in Montdidier and the Oise in the region of the Chaume wood. We brought back 20 prisoners. Quiet reigned on the rest of the front."

British Raids.
London, June 20.—British raiding parties were active in several sectors along the front last night taking prisoners and burning down several houses. In numerous clashes, the war office announced today.

The statement says a number of raids were carried out in the last night in the neighborhood of Boyen, northwest of Arras, Lens and Givency and in the Serzelles and Ypres sector in Flanders. Certain of these enterprises led to the capture of prisoners and the destruction of captured prisoners and 3 machine guns.

Ask Aid.
London, June 20.—A serious riot broke out in Vienna yesterday says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam. The mob broke into a number of bakeries, stole bread and then turned on the police. One of the wings of the Hausberg palace, the message adds.

Cavalry is being rushed to the capital to restore order. The probable result of the rioting was the reduction of bread rations.

Bread Reduction.
There has been reports from various sources recently of trouble in Austria, notably in the capital, because of the bread ration reduction called for by the exhaustion of the grain supply. The ration in the city of Vienna is now less than one and one-half pounds weekly. It was stated in a dispatch from Copenhagen this morning that the ration in that city had come from various quarters. The Vienna city council on Tuesday adopted a protest and the labor union called emphasized a resolution renewing its demand for a speedy peace.

Strikes in Vienna and elsewhere have been an outgrowth of the situation and have been expressed in Austrian quarters that what would virtually amount to a general strike was imminent.

Vienna dispatches to German newspapers say the reduction of the bread ration in Austria-Hungary caused immense excitement throughout the monarchy. A distinction of party protest against the measure, demanding removal and asking immediate help from Germany and Hungary.

GROWS WEAKER.—Austrian pressure on the front from Lake Garda to the Adriatic is growing weaker, though the fighting is still strenuous, hence in check on the Piave and has no gain on the mountain front. While his losses in prisoners have risen from the west bank of the river between Montello and Sadonia di Piave have been repulsed and only around Caposile have the Austrians advanced to Fossalta canal which parallels the lowland along the seacoast to Mero, a suburb of Venice.

Vienna claims the canal has been crossed at some points southwest of Meolo but Rome reports enemy advances have been repulsed.

FIGHTING HEAVY.—Heavy fighting continues around Montello plateau. The Austrians have not yet gained control of this height nor apparently had any success in attempting to debauch onto the lower ground at Serravalle.

The waters of the Piave have come to the aid of the strongly resisting Italians. The British official statement says the river has risen sufficiently to carry away many of the bridges the Austrians had thrown across the stream.

AUSTRIA SEETHING.—Internal conditions in Austria especially as regards food are causing trouble. The Vienna city council has protested against reduction of bread rations and against reduction of the Austrian labor force for a speedy "general peace." The food supply in Austria is reported at the lowest ebb since 1914.

The German Crown Prince has not needed his attack against Rheims before which 40,000 of his troops were repulsed with heavy losses. The front night attack Tuesday, the French maintain their position.

AMERICANS ACTIVE.—At Chateau Thierry American patrols have crossed the Marne in boats and bested the German forces in encounters. In addition to killing a large number of Germans the raiders brought back prisoners. American bombing airplanes have again bombarded Verdun and Juncourt midway between Verdun and Metz, dropping thirty bombs.

REVOLTS IN RUSSIA.—German aggression in Ukraine is beginning to reach the Italian front stage according to reports from Moscow. Revolts in large waves have broken out in Kiev and there has been much street fighting. Forty thousand armed peasants have risen and the revolt has spread to the province of Tchernigov and Poltava.

Telegraph Company's Agents Are Arrested For Serious Offense

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, June 20.—Postal inspectors today arrested a number of traveling agents of the Western Union Telegraph Co. on trains between Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington and seized suit cases they were carrying filled with messages filed for transmission by telegraph.

This practice which is said to have been in operation by telegraph companies for some time is considered a violation of the postal law forbidding persons not connected with postal service from conducting a traffic in communication over regular post roads.

The facts discovered will be presented to the grand jury and officials of the telegraph company will be summoned to explain the practice. The penalty for violation for the law is a fine of not more than $500 or six months imprisonment.

We have every faith in the allies."

SEEK INFORMATION THROUGH SPAIN OF RAID ON CONSULATE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Only the accounts of the incident contained in a dispatch yesterday from Minister Caldwell at Thelyz has reached the state department so far and that gave no detail and threw no light upon the situation now existing at Thelyz. There will be no hasty action by the United States toward recognizing what may have been an act of war and thereby adding Turkey to the nations' enemies. A complete and official report is awaited before the state department lays before President Wilson the information upon which he will base a decision as to whether he will ask congress for another war declaration.

ALLIES REQUESTED TO FIX RATE OF EXCHANGE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Rome, June 20.—The continued depreciation of Italian money in foreign markets, despite the establishment by the government of the National Institute of Exchange, early in the month for the purpose of reducing speculation in the rate of exchange, has led to the proposal that Italy's allies held her by arbitrarily fixing the rate of exchange, as it is claimed was done with France. As Italy must import large quantities of war materials in order to keep her in the fight, and as she must pay not only high current prices for such materials but also for every dollar of material she buys, it is pointed out that she is carrying more than her share of the war burden.

Since the establishment of the control of the government of the exchange, the price of a dollar brings in Italy has increased from 8.70 lire to 8.60, 5 lire being asked for the dollar before the war. The government also forbade the buying, outside of Italy, of dry goods and like articles by private companies, and almost all prices of all such necessities in Italy has increased far beyond the proportions of the exchange. A yard of wool cloth that sold a year ago for 20 lire, is now priced at 50 lire or more, if it may be had at any price. The price of food produced in Italy has also increased to meet these needs. Vegetables were almost as dear as meat, and meat that sold a year ago for 3 lire the pound, now sells for 7 lire.

The whole question of the exchange value of Italian money has been discussed by a series of articles from business men in the Popolo Romano, attempting to locate the causes of the depreciation of Italian money with the purpose of finding a remedy. In these articles it is agreed that the depreciation has not been caused by the increased issues of paper money, as related to the war. It is argued that English and French paper money, as related to the gold reserve of these nations, has been issued in greater proportions than that of Italy, which has been between 25 and 30 percent. gold reserve.

SUPREME COURT ISSUES DECISION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, June 20.—A decision of the supreme court of Wisconsin, when the supreme court held that a person who interferes with the delivery of a water system may be held liable for the damages. The action was brought by the Concordia Fire Insurance company against the Simmons company of Kenosha, Wis. This first instance, company in Kenosha had a number of buildings in Kenosha. The theory contended by the defendant, says the opinion, and adopted by the trial court, was that there is no liability on the part of the insurance company under the law of this state if there is no liability on the part of the municipality, which has assumed the responsibility of protection against fires by the installing of a water works system and a fire department, or as against any corporation, which, in its contract with such municipality to furnish such water supply, for any fire losses due to an employee or insufficient supply of water. President of Organization Authorized to Visit Foreign Countries in Order to Cement Relations.

St. Paul, June 20.—American working men through the American Federation of Labor today reaffirmed their position of refusing to meet representatives of workers of the central power until German military machine has been crushed.

"This position is logical morally and absolutely correct," according to a resolution of the federation, "because the true attitude of those workers could not be learned at such a conference. A resolution urging Ireland be granted home rule was adopted after an amendment calling upon England to establish the independence of that country was voted down after spirited discussion. TIME TO ACT.

Now is the time to make your selections for officers, for the various places for which successors will be chosen at the September primaries, of both county, state and congress. Of course the first test is loyalty and the second is fitness for the position the candidate seeks. Sometimes certain officials remain so long in office they become convinced of the idea that if they should die, retire or be defeated for re-election and election, the community would go to wreck and ruin. The quicker these individuals disengage their minds from this thought the better public servants they will be or the quicker they will be replaced.

Because a man has served a dozen, a half dozen or even three or four terms in congress, does not absolutely qualify him for re-election and election if he is opposed by a man whose loyalty is not questioned and whose ability is up to the mark. A man who has served a dozen or more terms in congress, does not absolutely qualify him for re-election and election if he is opposed by a man whose loyalty is not questioned and whose ability is up to the mark.

The same is true of county politics. Beloit has long held its grasp upon the sheriff's office. True, it has not set up some strong man, but why not set up a good Janesville man for a change and have Janesville stand as solidly for their candidate as Beloit does? Or Edgerton, or Evansville, or any other community? You can go down the line of other officials the same way. County clerk, seldom changed, perhaps for a matter of twenty years. Why not change county treasurer and register of probate.

Then here comes our legislative question. In the first district Lawrence Whitely has ably represented the district for two sessions and now declines to run again. Why not pick out a Janesville man capable for the place. Evansville and Milton Junction have both had the honor since Janesville had it.

In the second district let a good, strong, honest and fearless republican, whose loyalty can not be questioned, and whose Americanism is not of the month and argumentative variety, who does not stand against the majority but is willing to be a true American and then elect him.

Our state ticket is too early to predict much. There promises to be much trading and working out and the so-called farmers' ticket. The death of Aylward and the decisive defeat of Davies for the senatorial office, have left that wing of the party bereft of a leader and if the democrats hope to win they must look to Knap and the more conservative democrats who have been ignored by the federal authorities. However time will take its course and meanwhile you can rest assured there will be a merry fight on in the democratic ranks.

OUR PART.

Heavily and nobly are the women of the nation responding to the demand that they do their share in this great war of ours. They do not ask, "Is our share fair?" They go right ahead and do all they can. You find women knitting, you find them rolling bandages, making clothing, in fact in every war-time demand asked for the women of this nation. Now do you find their end there? If you look into the fields you will find them toiling, doing men's work, in the gardens in the city, hoeing and weeding, all playing their part to win this war.

The woman who is so self-centered that she is content to daily travel off for a card game or a picnic, merely give her money when asked, is not the true patriot. It is the woman who actually takes her share in the work of winning this war and thank fortune Rock county is developing a new generation of strong, virile (if you may use the word) women who have taken their place in the respect of the community and who are doing their part.

Others, perhaps, may not hold in the Red Cross rooms, may not hold in the gardens, but do their share by making use of the food supplies by making or helping of food to the work of nourishment that two formerly did. There is work for all and thank fortune our women are responding even more nobly than the men to the demand upon their activities. They are called the "weaker sex" but in the majority of cases they are showing the qualifications of being the stronger and the misnomer will soon be forgotten when the final accounting comes.

Meanwhile we all toil on doing our part as it is delivered to us under sealed orders. Liberty loans, "Your Share is Fair," and now, last but not least, the new War Savings Stamp campaign. Here is the latest opportunity to demonstrate a new element of the war by saving the nickle until they reach the quarter mark and buying a stamp, then saving the quarter stamps until they total something near five dollars and putting the little book away for several years until the government redeems it. It is not a donation, it is a saving for the future. A step toward the day when "Johnny Comes Marching Home," to the "Girl He Left Behind Him." Will you respond to this as the women are responding to the other demands?

AN EPISODE.

Painting men yellow, both verbally and in reality, painting personal property yellow and leaving notes of warning, may smother a bit of the days of the Ku Klux Klan period that followed the Civil war in the South, but even in this civilized day and age and in this state of ours whose sons are now across the water fighting our battles, it is not a bit too harsh treatment for the men who can and will not pay their share of the burden of this war.

Janesville had its taste of the apparent disloyalty. Milton Junction is just about to close the chapter on its episode of a similar nature and the other communities through this county stand ready to administer just rebukes to persons who are actually disloyal at heart though perhaps mouth patriots.

In this country they point the individual yellow or some of his property; in Germany they stand them up against a stone wall and shoot them down. Roid of the rape in Belgium, listen to the tales of suffering Poland and starving Serbia, learn of the lust of the passion of the orders given by the advancing Hun foe into northern France and then wonder if yellow paint is enough for disloyal citizens here at home?

These little disturbances are merely episodes of the great war that is being staged three thousand miles away by actual combat, but actually brought right home to us here in our own communities. Episodes similar to the treatment of the latest "Copperheads" of the rebellion period of the Sixties, but not half as excusable now as then. This nation is now fully aroused as never before and woe to the individual who utters disloyal remarks or makes disloyal moves. Their punishment may be merely "episodes," but from now on it is safe to say these episodes will be remembered.

The old-time regular army sergeants used to say: "Give a shavetail a year and he will either be a soldier or an ass." A shavetail meant a second lieutenant just out of West Point. The same was true of the various officers' training camps and still we find these officers are making good so they must have made "men" of themselves and the few that failed are the "asses." Making soldiers to order is Uncle Sam's specialty these days and he is turning out such a variety that the "Huns" wonder where he learned the art.

The question has been raised, why have the city fountain not been turned on? The answer is easy to give. The fountain and the water supply need repairing and this will be done quickly and then there will be no need of complaint. The park board has already established a new drinking fountain in the upper end of the park and it is much appreciated. Other improvements will come apace.

It was a wise move to put off the consolidation of the two down town fire stations at the present time. Increase the efficiency of the fire department by all means, but do not stall too much expense at the present time on the city by remodeling one station to accommodate the two companies.

The man who first said, "This world, the next and then the fireworks," never stood in the trenches or out in "No Man's Land" when the star shells dropped, or the machine guns rapped out their charges. No sir, he was safe at home trying to ease his headache from the night before with a towel and cracked ice.

Rock Prairie kept up its reputation at its annual mid-summer gathering. The crowds which enjoyed the hospitality of the community to the east of us returned delighted and the wonder is that more of these kinds of "get-together gatherings" are not indulged in.

No question but the members of the city council are devoting lots of time and thought to the management of city affairs. They are in earnest in their work but as usual it falls on the shoulders of a few.

There will be plenty of fireworks in Janesville without a celebration this year, and besides Rockford plans a monster military display without the fire-water, so why hesitate?

The council beat the Chamber of Commerce to the question of garbage collection. More power to them.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

NOW WE KNOW WHO HE IS.

After months of patient guessing and much mystery a great problem is solved. Now we know who Lennie is. The secret is out. It is told by one of his fellow-revolutionists who has come to this country. Here is the secret: Lennie's real name is Vladimir Ilyitch Ullanov.

Things we used to worry about. HA! HA! Flies, beet weevil, measles, installment collections, folding beds, Villains, poisoning, cyclones, auto speeders, burglars.

The editor of this paper has been living on the top shelf lately. Bullheads for breakfast, pork and greens for dinner, and cursing the Huns for supper.—Britt (Iowa) Tribune. At last we have something real to worry about. Government official announcement of the latest "Copperheads" of the rebellion period of the Sixties, but not half as excusable now as then. This nation is now fully aroused as never before and woe to the individual who utters disloyal remarks or makes disloyal moves. Their punishment may be merely "episodes," but from now on it is safe to say these episodes will be remembered.

Just Folks

THE FUTURE DAYS. We'll sing the love songs over when the fighting days are done. We'll tread once more the clover, when the battles all are won. Every band that's playing marches shall strike up an old time dance. And through Victory's sun-kissed arches we will lead the boys from France.

Oh we'll find the days of laughter and we'll dry the mothers' tears. Joy has always followed after trouble's long and dreary years. We will jump our songs of gladness and we'll claim the old delights Of a homeland freed from sadness when the family reunites.

Maid and man shall go a straying down the moonlit lanes of love. Dusk shall find the children playing old time prayers to God above. When we reach the long road's turning and the cannons cease to roar By the home fires brightly burning we shall gather as before.

There'll be days when every mother happy lubbards shall hum. Little sister, little brother, there are glorious days to come. From the great sound of our nation

MILTON JUNCTION PEOPLE TESTIFY

WITNESSES FROM MILTON JUNCTION GIVE TESTIMONY IN JOHN DOE PROCEEDINGS YESTERDAY AFTERNOON BEFORE JUDGE MAXFIELD.

CLAIM HULL IS LOYAL

When Questioned As to Whether They Considered Calvin Hull Loyal They All Answered in the Affirmative.

Mrs. Charles Woodward, Mrs. W. A. Dodd, P. M. Warner, W. R. Thorpe, Philip Winch, C. N. Garthwaite, William Kitzke, W. R. Williams, Frank Morris, W. Winch, Mrs. P. L. Burdick, and Frank Hull, all of Milton Junction, appeared before Judge Maxfield yesterday afternoon in the municipal court and testified in John Doe proceedings as to why warrants should not be issued against persons residing in Milton Junction under chapter 13 laws of 1918 relative to persons by word or act discouraging enlistments in the fighting forces of the United States.

The witnesses were all examined by Judge Maxfield in reference to the loyalty and disloyal remarks of people living in Milton Junction, to which their attention has been called, and also to the painting yellow of the store of Calvin Hull.

In questioning the witnesses in regard to a pole which it is alleged is painted orange, blue and white, some of the witnesses stated that it was nearly red and one of the witnesses swore that Mr. Hull had come to him and asked to buy some red paint as he was going to paint the pole red, white and blue.

Concensus of opinion which was brought to light at the hearing was that Mr. Hull, who is between seventy-nine and eighty years of age, suffers at times from infirmities caused by advanced age and that furthermore he had no intention of painting the pole orange, blue and white.

Judge Maxfield then asked the witnesses, "Do you consider Mr. Hull a loyal American?" Each witness answered without any hesitation that they did consider the aged man a true blue American.

The judge then told the witnesses that the proceedings were held simply to satisfy further trouble in Milton Junction, to hold a thorough investigation of the matter and to fully acquaint them with the law in case any further trouble happened.

After listening to the testimony Judge Maxfield stated that he would hold the case open and he suggested to Mr. Hull that the pole be painted red, white and blue and if by any chance it couldn't be done to notify the judge at once.

CAME FROM STOUGHTON TO SEE CITY; DRAWS FINE

George McManus, who claims Stoughton as his home, was brought before Judge Maxfield this morning on a charge of drunkenness. When questioned he claimed that he did not come down here to get drunk because Stoughton was dry, but simply came down to see the city. He will have an opportunity of viewing the city from a nearby farm for the next fifteen days unless he pays a fine of ten dollars and costs.

Joseph McManus was hailed before Judge Maxfield and given a severe lecture along with a fine of twenty-five dollars and costs or thirty days. He told him the pious lecture in handing him the fine. The only thing that was keeping him from Waupun was the fact that he was to be taken in the next draft call.

LIST MURDER CASE FOR OCTOBER TERM OF CIRCUIT COURT

Elzy Barton, Beloit Negro, Will Be Tried for Double Murder—Is Being Held at County Jail.

Murder in the first degree is the charge against Elzy Barton, Beloit negro, accused of killing two other negroes, James Bailey and George Holson, in his home on the night of June 11. Barton is now behind the bars at the county jail waiting his trial, which will begin the day of the next regular session of circuit court, Oct. 21, before Judge Grimm.

Evidence against the accused man is so strong that it is doubtful whether a trial will be held. At the preliminary hearing held in Beloit the day after the double murder, although pleading not guilty, Barton made no statement in his defense and it is highly probable that after thinking over the evidence against him in the months of confinement before his trial he will decide to enter a guilty plea.

According to the story of eyewitnesses to the shooting affair, Elzy Barton shot and killed the two victims in his own home while under the influence of liquor. James Bailey, another negro, testified that Barton had been drinking whiskey the afternoon of the shooting and that about one o'clock he went to bed with him where they had a beer and a glass of whiskey.

They then went to Barton's home and found him sleeping there. Marjorie then testified that after they had been in the house only a short time and everything seemed to be going along nicely, Mrs. Addie Bailey suddenly came in with a man by the name of John Eddy and told him that Barton had been drinking whiskey and that about one o'clock he went to bed with him where they had a beer and a glass of whiskey.

"Peace Soon" Letters to Soldiers Aid Foe, One Mother Learns

Boys at Front Know Early End of War Would Be Playing Germany's Game—They Have Job of Sending Letters to His Friends and They Need Words of Cheer From Home—Write Often and Write Encouragingly. Says Rheta Childie Dorr.

Article X.
One day, in a big American camp in France, I witnessed the arrival of a long-delayed batch of mail from home. No words of mine can describe how joyfully it was received. They sang and shouted while the letters and parcels were being distributed, and afterwards a deep silence fell on the camp while the letters were being read.

All of those who received no letters that day. My heart ached for them, and I want to urge, as part of the patriotic duty of every citizen, that as far as possible no soldier is neglected in this respect. Every man in the army, and this will soon mean practically every citizen of the United States, ought to write frequently to his soldiers.

If you haven't time to write long letters, write short ones. If you have time for short letters, write long ones. But write something. As soon as the men go to training camp, a great deal of the soldier's life is a period of bewilderment and homesickness, and this usually occurs early in his military career. Young, so young, most of whom our splendid soldiers are, are drafted from the first time in their lives. It does not do to risk breaking the home ties altogether.

When Home Ties Rupt.
One of the things that burden the hearts of our British allies is the fear that this may have happened in the case of our own soldiers. Nearly every soldier has a great many relatives, and they are incredibly remote from their homes. It takes letters three months to cross the immense waste of waters between the Pacific and the Atlantic, and the French battlefields. Three months for a mother to answer a question asked in the words of a husband and wife.

Thousands of the Anzacs have been away from home, been separated from their families for three years. When they have leave of absence they go to England, and clubs and canteens have been opened for them in London and elsewhere. But the English does not mean that in many cases they will never knit again.

We do not want that to happen to our soldiers, and the best, indeed the only way to prevent it, is to write letters, frequent letters, and the right kind of letters.

I watched these soldiers in our camp overseas reading their letters from home. They did not read them just once and then fold them up and put them in their pockets. Every letter was read a dozen times over, until the words were learned by heart. That is why it is so important that the right kind of letters be written.

Don't Write. "The interest on the mortgage is due again next week and I'm sure I don't know where the money is coming from. Don't tell your boy that you have had a bad spell of nostalgia and can hardly see to write. Don't tell him that Jennie is doing badly in school and shows a sulky temper. Those are your worries, not his. He has responsibilities ahead of him, and possibly troubles and suffering immeasurably bigger than anything you face."

Above all, never deplore the fact that he is in the war, and never tell him that you are praying for an early peace. No American soldier whose mind has been enlightened to the true state of affairs in this war wants an early peace. He knows that an early peace would be dangerous, a fatal peace, one pleasing only to the Germans and their starving and enslaved allies. In all the neutral countries, German propaganda is working overtime to bring about an early peace. German agents are everywhere trying to undermine the morale of the allied people, especially the women, and through them the soldiers. How they get into France is a mystery, but they get there, and they often remain undetected for a long time.

I remember visiting in the home of a simple bourgeois French family where the one remaining soldier son was coming on leave. Three sons of that family had given up their lives for France, one at the Marne, one at Verdun, and one in the first battle of Somme. The one remaining son was in a dangerous service, and perhaps one can hardly blame his mother and sisters for listening to any suggestion of a possible peace.

They Dislike Peace Talk.
They had heard, one of the sisters said, as we sat at tea, tea without cream, any talk of peace. Never! France and Austria were about to sign a separate peace. They hoped the news was true, because then Italy would make peace, and the allies would only have to fight the Germans in France and Flanders. "Never, my dear sister," said the resolute young French soldier. "Listen to any talk of peace. Never! I am a soldier. We have our work to do, and you must help us, not weaken us. There is one kind of peace that we want, and that is the peace that will come when Germany is conquered."

He got up from his seat and left the room, returning soon with a beautiful and striking war poster the French have produced. This one showed a terrible procession of old men, women and children, being driven by German troops. The Germans were striking the helpless people with the flat of their swords and laughing brutally at their sufferings.

"This is no fiction," said the French soldier to me. "This is fact. And this is what would happen again, if we were to make peace too soon. Why not end it for all time now? We men are ready to give our lives. We embrace the earth when we fall, for the sacrifice of a few lives now is nothing to the horrors that are in store for our children to come, unless we win, really win, this war."

I said: "I will tell the American people what you have said, and what I know to be true, for I have seen something of this war, and I know that one of our brothers, I have seen of this war. I would never speak of peace to him. I don't want him to think of peace. I want him to fight."

Fighting is Only Aim.
My only son, I have said before, is a soldier. He is at the front, and I have not heard from him since this second battle of the Somme began, which indicates his nearness to the battle front. Yet after what I have seen of this war, I would never speak of peace to him. I don't want him to think of peace. I want him to fight.

Since this war began nearly two million people, not fighters, but women and children and men too old and infirm to fight, have been driven in wretchedness from their homes. This is France alone.

Week now what happened in Belgium, in Serbia, in Roumania and Poland, Armenia? Words fail in describing what happened there. I have seen only France, and I can speak only of France. Two million French people have fled before the ment, and every story was carefully authenticated before it was published. I tell this story because it was told to me while I was feeding the wretched victim a few weeks ago. I speak only of what I know, and I know that this woman, one of thousands, is just a type, an example of what has happened, what is happening today. But what must never happen again. The only way to prevent it happening again, perhaps to our American women, is to put out of the world the thing Germany stands for, and which she is fighting desperately to keep alive and powerful.

Her Whole Family Lost.
The family had made their way to a relative in a village near Peronne. When the Germans swept over that district in 1916 they fled again, and in the flight Cecile never strong after her experience in Germany, died. Soon afterwards the baby died. Georges, now a sturdy boy of fourteen, was all that was left.

After the Germans retreated last November they went back to their village near Peronne, and the boy worked for their support until March 21, this year. Then they fled again, and here she was alone.

"Where is Georges?" I asked. "Do not speak so loud, madame," implored the neighbor. "The poor one cannot be told just yet, but Georges was killed by a shell that burst near the station when we got on the train. Not all of us could get that train. She thinks that Georges was left behind and that he will come tomorrow."

Speed—Speed!

Uncle Sam pushed the clock ahead one hour to give more light.

Take advantage of it. You owe it to yourself and your country to make every minute count. Use your car—passenger or commercial—to the limit.

Samuel P. Colt, president of the United States Rubber Company, helped awaken the country to the economic value of the automobile last fall. He said—

"Everything on wheels must be used and mobilized."

"The automobile is second to the railroads as an adjunct and supplementary to them in collecting and distributing merchandise."

"Owners should use their cars, both passenger and commercial, more and more."

Make the most of your car by using the tires that will extend its usefulness to the utmost.

Use good tires—United States Tires.

They last longest and carry you farthest at least cost.

There is a United States Tire for every car or truck—to guarantee uninterrupted service and greatest economy. Our nearest Sales and Service Depot dealer will tell you which ones will serve you best.

United States Tires are Good Tires

We KNOW the United States Tires are good Tires. That's why we sell them.

What Will Be Your Answer?

Many American ships with many American lives are at the bottom of the Atlantic, victims of German lust for blood.

Our boys are going "over there," through a sea of hostile submarines, to fight that you and I at home may be safe.

But we can do something. It may not be much, but what we can do we must do. Germany said to us, "You cannot cross the ocean with your men! You cannot fight us, because you cannot reach us!" And now she is waiting for our answer.

June 28th National War Savings Day

Every man, woman and child is going to join in an answer that can be heard from one end of Germany to the other—an answer so clear, so strong and so true that it may have a far greater effect than any of us can imagine, on Germany's future policy.

Let this be our answer—let every person in this great land of ours pledge himself to buy as many War Savings Stamps as he can possibly afford. Let's show German atrocity that sinking our ships and killing our men only stir us to action.

Let's make June 28th memorable in the history of our country as National W. S. Day. Let's you and I—and every you and I, man, woman and child—resolve that before we go to bed that night we will have as many War Savings Stamps pasted on our War Savings Certificates as we can buy.

If every man, woman and child rises to this occasion and buys stamps, you can bet that the Kaiser will know what it means. If every one of the hundred million Americans buys only one War Savings Stamp that day, the Government will have 425 million dollars.

But that is not enough. We must pledge five times that. Our quota for the nation is two billion dollars, to be raised through the sale of War Savings Stamps this year.

Let's not wait until another transport is blown up. Let's not wait until full-page casualty lists start coming in from France. Let's make up our minds to get busy and when each of us goes to bed tonight, let's be able to say to ourselves, "Well, perhaps I have not done much, but I have at least shown the mothers of our boys that I am behind them, and I have sent an answer to the Kaiser that will make him stop and think."

MR. WAD WILL HAVE TO GET USED TO MOVIE STARS' SALARIES.

WAR TO DETERMINE FATE OF BASEBALL

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS)
New York, June 20.—The fate of professional baseball after the close of the present season, and that of many other branches of sports, will depend wholly on the length of the world war.

That the Government will probably take no drastic steps in connection with the new draft amendment as it applies to baseball this season has been generally understood for the past few weeks. The various leagues are well toward the middle of their seasons, and having gone that far it is considered unlikely that they will be hindered to any great extent this year. Should the government find it expedient to apply the new measure to all "unnecessary occupations" to its fullest extent, however, baseball will be robbed of practically all its stars. There will be nothing left but to close up shop and call it quits until peace is made.

A few of the stars who come under the order are: George Sisler, Derrill, Dick, Allan Sothoron, Clarence Meyers, Walter Johnson, Tris Speaker, Jack McInnis, Everett Scott, Wally Schang, Amos Strunk, Joe Bush, Dutch Leonard, Babe Ruth, Carl Mays, Eddie Collins, Chick Gandil, Ray Schalk, Buck Weaver, Urban Faber, George Burns, Benay Kauf, Ferdie Schupp, Phil Wheat, George Tyler, Jim Vaughn, Dave Bancroft, Eppa Rixey, Tony Loney, Eddie Rousch, Fred Toney, Ty Cobb, Bobbie Vosh, Orville Moody, Art Nehf, Dick Rudolph, Roger Hornsby, Max Carey and Wilbur Cooper.

HERMAN SCHAEFER SAYS SHERMAN WAS CORRECT

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS)
New York, June 20.—General Sherman was right. War is hell! (German) Schaefer, who dropped his Hunnish nickname when Uncle Sam tossed his chapau into the ring, agrees with the famous general of Civil War fame to the letter.

The grim, relentless paw of war recently grabbed Schaefer by the nap of the neck and the seat of the trousers and tossed him out of a perfectly good job.

Through the management of the Cleveland Indians, executed the release of Schaefer as coach and side-line comedian, the war was really responsible, and with his passing from the payroll of the American league a career of eighteen years in the major leagues came abruptly and unexpectedly to a close.

Schaefer was a mighty good infielder in his heyday as a player, and once this season he proved that he can still play a pretty sassy game of baseball by getting into the Cleveland lineup and acquitting himself in acceptable fashion. He played with the champion Tigers of 1907 and 1908.

MORE AMERICAN GUNS ARRIVE AT FRONT IN FRANCE TO BLOCK DRIVE OF HUN FORCES TOWARD PARIS

This photo, just received from the front, shows a trainload of heavy American guns arriving behind the battle line. American guns are being rushed to the front rapidly to be used with the British and French artillery in backing up the infantry.

Danbury, already has a certain sort of fame. It is the city where P. T. Barnum was born.

Also it is the place where the first hat in America was made.

Quite fittingly Jack Dempsey, the newest sensation in heavyweights, has picked this city as the place in which to knock Fred Fulton into a cocked hat.

These two heavyweights meet in a twenty-round battle on July 4. The winner is going to claim the world's championship, since Jess Willard, the title holder, has been quoted as saying that he is through with the boxing game.

The battle of course, will not decide a championship. As long as Willard still remains unbeaten the title fans will consider him the king of the ring, even as long as there is a possibility of his returning to the stage at some later day in defense of the crown he plucked from the head of one Jack Johnson. But the fight will do this much—it will prove which is the man Willard should really fight.

Fred Fulton's record is pretty well known to the public. The tall Minnesotan has been a conspicuous figure in ringdom ever since the memorable day he floored Willard in a sparring match when the champion was traveling in the middle west with his circus.

Since then Fulton has developed into a finished workman and has defeated practically every worthwhile heavyweight in the game. Recently he was matched to fight William Lee for the championship, but various state and government officials refused to sanction the bout.

Dempsey, contrary to general belief, is not a westerner. He was born in Logan, W. Va., but when he was ten years old his parents moved to Colorado and Jack grew up on the farm. In time he became a boiler maker, was introduced to the boxing game, won a few ring tussles, drifted to Salt Lake City and then to Portland, Ore. Some way or other he managed to work his way east.

New York he hooked up with John Reiskler, Cyclone John the Barber. His success was far from flattering and he returned west.

Back west he took up the four-round game in San Francisco, after being knocked out by Jim Flynn in

Upper left-hand photo shows British troops on pontoon bridge over river Jordan. Upper right-hand picture shows fishermen on river Jordan spreading their nets. Map shows nature of land in Palestine from Daa to Beersheba. Other lower picture shows the ruins in a Palestine village, where the work of Christian and Moslem alike has fallen into decay.

Into whose hands will Palestine fall after the war? That question is the topic for discussion almost universally. Dr. Ben Zion Mossinson, rector of the Hebrew Gymnasium in Palestine and now in this country, says that Palestine must be free. "The freedom of Palestine and the freedom of the world are interdependent and both will be achieved at the end of the present war by the victory of the democratic nations over the central powers," he said recently in a speech at Cleveland, O.

THE BOLSHIEVSKI HAVE ADOPTED CUBIST STYLE

(By Associated Press.)

London, June 20. The Bolsheviks have adopted the cubist style of decoration for Russian cities in celebrating the revolutionary feast days. The whole city of Petrograd was decorated in this bizarre fashion for the celebration of May day. Thousands of cubist posters draped with revolutionary red hunting ornaments the walls of palaces and government buildings. Describing the scene the Petrograd correspondent of the Morning Post writes:

Petrograd for May Day was turned into a huge village fair. The ambitious plans for hiding under red drapery and cubist canvases all the visible symbols of those things that made the greatness of once great Russia were frustrated by shortage of red material, by inability to compel a sufficiency of skilled labor, or by the desire of everybody concerned to think first of personal opportunities and only secondarily of public objects.

"At any rate, the great palaces and monuments, the works of art of many generations, were neither hidden nor disguised, but merely disfigured. I noted principally the disfigurement of the Winter Palace facade. Half of dozen billboards erected about the palace square bore cubist and futurist angular designs on a gigantic scale, each with a legend explaining what otherwise was certainly incomprehensible.

"The great column of the Palace Square had evidently defied the attacks, and only its pediment was partially hidden by billboards covered with crude colors, having neither form nor substance.

"The procession did itself credit in several particulars. All the fighting arms were largely represented and some of the sections, especially a certain cavalry regiment and a detachment of machine gunners, looked like fighting material ready for work. The soldiers were such as have always been in Petrograd. The infantrymen and artillerymen, particularly the latter, seemed to have undergone but little training. All the fighting forces on this occasion appeared with full equipment and arms. Bands of workmen were interspersed between the fighting arms.

Fundamental Human Need.

It seems to me a great truth that human beings cannot stand on selfishness, mechanical utilities, economics and law courts; that if there be not a religious element in the relations of men, such relations are miserable and doomed to ruin.—Carlyle.

NOT SO SMART.
Pa—I'm going to punish you severely!
Willy—What for, Pa?
Pa—Now, don't try that innocence game. I know all the bad things you've done today.
Willy—No you don't. You don't know I hid the strap you lick me with.

DARIEN

Darien, June 19.—Mrs. A. V. Sawyer went to Elkhorn this evening where she will attend the senior class play.

Charles Gossio, U. S. N., is home on a fifteen day furlough from Boston, Mass.

A patriotic rally given under the direction of the Darien Council of Defense was held in Reed's hall Tuesday evening. F. H. Kiter of Whitewater was the speaker of the evening and music was furnished by the Darien band. Charles Beardsley entertained the Ladies' Social club this afternoon.

Children's day exercises were held in the Baptist church Sunday evening. A patriotic rally was enjoyed by a good sized audience. A number from here attended a meeting of the Walworth Baptist association held at the Brick church today.

Errol Thomas went to Milton today where he will begin work with the Northwestern Telephone company.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Reed are Delaware visitors today.

Mrs. and Mrs. Alfred Matteson of Sharon visited Sunday at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Thomas.

Walter Wheeler of Camp Grant called at the home of his brother, L. T. Wheeler, Sunday.

Mrs. W. Ende and Mrs. Geo. Lane and daughter Beverly of Savannah, Ill., spent the week-end at the home of their mother, Mrs. Alice Lindeman.

Patience.—Why do you look so disappointedly at that man? He stood up for you at the meeting the other night when you were being abused." Patrice—"Yes, I know he did. But I came up on the same trolley car with him tonight, and he wouldn't stand up for me there."

Talking for Effect.

A good conversationalist is not one who talks for effect. It is generally easy to pick out the man who is talking in order to make an impression, who says not so much what he thinks, as what he imagines his listeners will consider clever.

Bargains in most everything are listed in the classified columns.
